DETAILED ACTION

Specification

- ✓ 1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 5 is objected to because of the following informalities: In line 3, insert "a" before structure. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential structural cooperative relationships of elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the necessary structural connections. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted structural cooperative relationships are: the structural relationship of the structure with other elements of the claim. Furthermore. It does not provide any specifics about the structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2839

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

7. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Jo.

Jo (Figures 1-5) shows a circuit card package 10 having a first circuit card 14 with a first connector mounted on its edge, an interface adapter (motherboard) 53 installed on the bottom surface of a frame 12 and secured to the first connector and a plurality of second circuit cards 14 with edge connectors mounted on the interface adapter such that the cards 14 are parallel to each other and are orthogonal to the interface adapter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jo.

Jo shows all the features of this claim as described in Paragraph 4 above except the bracket. Jo shows the frame 12 having a planar bracket (a side wall) with a plurality of openings for inserting the circuit cards 14 and a second bracket (bottom wall and another side wall) wherein the bottom wall supports the interface adapter and connects the two sidewalls which are orthogonal to the bottom wall. But Jo shows these two brackets as integral. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to make these brackets as separate, since it has been held that constituting a formerly integral part in various elements involves only routine skill in the art. Nerwin v. Erlichman, 168 USPQ 177, 179.

Art Unit: 2839

10. Claims 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jo in view of Boyer.

Jo shows all the features of these claims as described in Paragraph 7 above except a structure to prevent hot insertion or a latching mechanism (a latch on the second bracket engaging a corresponding latch member on the circuit card). Such structure or latching is well known in the art of electrical connectors. Boyer shows such a structure or latching mechanism (a latch 47 engaging an opening 46). Boyer further discloses that the latch may include a spring. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to provide such a structure or a latching mechanism on the Jo's circuit card and the bracket (frame) because this would provide a means to secure the card to the bracket (frame) and prevent hot insertion as taught by Boyer.
